

R.U.O.K.?

A Free Service That Could Save Your Life!

Serving the Communities of:

Acushnet, Attleboro, Berkley, Dartmouth, Dighton, Easton, Fairhaven, Fall River, Freetown, Mansfield, New Bedford, North Attleboro, Norton, Raynham, Rehoboth, Seekonk, Somerset, Swansea, Taunton, Westport

The "R.U.O.K." Program is a free telephone calling service provided by the Bristol County Sheriff's Office in cooperation with the local Police Department and Council on Aging. It is designed for senior citizens, disabled persons, and shut-ins living in Bristol County.

How it works: The Bristol County Sheriff's Department will make a telephone call to an individual's home at approximately the same time each day. If no one answers, the Sheriff's Department will call back shortly. If no one answers the second time, their First Responder will be called immediately to check on their status.

The "R.U.O.K." Program provides peace of mind for both the individual and their family. It provides reliable, daily phone assurance, and the security a person may need to maintain their independence. There is no equipment to purchase, and no special codes to remember. Enroll today!
